Old Leaders Will Fall, Says Miller

Alumnus Tells Grads That Today Is Really Time of Opportunity

"Youth of today should not regard this as a time of destruction, but as a time of opportunity. These are the times when the self-satisfied controllers of the world's civilization are shaken loose and when new and younger leaders take their places," Justin Miller, '13, associate justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals, told graduates today at the forty-fourth annual commencement exercises in the Student Union. The title of Miller's address which was the main speech of the day, was "Young Men Going West."

The associate justice built the main theme of his talk around the discovery of new frontiers, the daring of youth to face new dangers, to solve new problems and to build foundations for a stronger, finer civilization.

Drives Point Home

The play on the words in his title drove his points home clearly, for he stated that during the last war "going West" was an expression used by the soldiers about to die, and meant to them that they were beginning another adventure. In early days it was used by pioneers and to them the west signified a land of opportunity, while today it suggests the many new fields open to conquest by daring youth.

Our chart for the future, he said, will and should be guided by such things as the traditional adherence to the Monroe Doctrine, the insistence upon the freedom of the seas, the resolute purpose that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth.

Affirms Belief

The associate justice affirmed his belief in the capacity of the American people for leadership, but advocated the immediate cessation of their adherence to the old maxim of "great crises produce great leaders."

Miller provided proof for his statement regarding the daring needed in all ages for true leadership by citing examples of Napoleon and his campaigns, Washington at Valley Forge, Lincoln in the Civil war and Lindbergh before he flew the Atlantic.

He also advised the students not to resent the attitudes of "the old fellows of my generation. Most of them are frightfully disillusioned and unhappy about the present situation for which they are held responsible."

The associate justice closed with the statement that to him the West still personifies the immortal spirit of the pioneer and quoted Masefield in terming it "the fine land, the west land, the land where I belong."

Lieutenant Robert Breen '37, former Grizzly football player, is stationed with the United States Army at Fort Caltsap, Oregon.

Reporter Greets Alumnus

Justin Miller, associate justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C., who delivered the commencement address today, shakes hands with Dorothy Rochon, Anaconda, Kaimin reporter, upon his arrival in Missoula yesterday. Miller was accompanied by his wife.

Sixty Men May Enroll In CAA

Primary and Advanced Training to Be Given During Summer

Instructions authorizing the enrollment of 30 students in both the primary and secondary courses of the summer CAA training program have been received from the Civil Aeronautics administration, Dr. A. S. Merrill, ground school coordinator, announced yesterday.

Actual work will begin soon after the beginning of the summer session and will be finished by September 1, but students may have to stay a little longer in order to complete the course, Dr. Merrill said.

Must Complete Year

Applicants for the flight training must have completed one year of college work and must be between the ages of 19 and 26 on July 1, 1941. If less than 21 years of age, the student will need his parent's consent before enrolling. Six alternates will be chosen for both courses after the regular quota has been filled, but for the first time, women are definitely ruled out of the program.

Premiums Reduced

Because of the exceptional safety record established by the Civilian Pilot Training program during the last year, the premium for the individual accident insurance will be reduced 20 per cent for both primary and secondary students. More than 150 men have been trained in two years in Missoula without a fatality and in training 50,000 men throughout the country, only 31 pilots and instructors have been killed, Dr. Merrill said. This is equivalent to more than four million miles per fatality.

Miller to Address Phi Beta Kappa

Justin Miller, commencement speaker, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at the Alpha Association of Phi Beta Kappa dinner tonight in the Bitter Root room of the Student Union building.

About 40 members of Phi Beta Kappa in western Montana have been invited to attend the meeting.

Twenty members of Kappa Tau, local senior honorary, and its faculty sponsor, Dr. W. P. Clark, professor of classical languages, will be special guests at the dinner.

Distribution Of Yearbooks Will Continue

Copies to Be Released Tuesday; Last Senior Issue Is Monday

Distribution of the 1941 Sentinel will continue throughout test week, according to George Luening, Gardiner, who has taken over the book's release as Editor Walt Millar's call to the army takes effect tomorrow.

Seniors who have not received their copies of the Sentinel may get them from 2 to 4 o'clock today. No other books will be given out today, but Tuesday through Thursday students may get Sentinels from 1 to 5 o'clock.

Students who have missed one or more quarters of registration must pay $1 per quarter missed in order to get their books. Luening urges that these fees be paid before students apply for books in order to save delay in distribution.

Persons wishing to buy extra copies of the Sentinel will be sold a limited number Friday morning. Books will be sold to buyers in the order which their applications are turned in to the Sentinel office.

Second Largest Number In History of School Receives Diplomas Today

Justin Miller Delivers Address to Graduating Class at Commencement Exercises; Receives Doctor of Laws Honorary Degree

Three hundred sixty-six seniors, comprising one of the largest graduating classes in school history, received bachelor of arts degrees at the annual commencement exercises this afternoon. One honorary degree of doctor of laws, two master of arts degrees, 81 teaching certificates and 24 second lieutenant commissions in the Officers Reserve corps were presented.

Of the 366 B.A. degrees awarded, 73 were conferred upon students who graduated during summer, autumn or winter quarters. Thirty-one M. A. degrees and 30 teaching certificates were awarded to students who graduated this year prior to spring quarter.

Receives Three Degrees

John Wiegstein, Butte, received three degrees, graduating with honors in bacteriology and hygiene, pre-medical science and chemistry. The School of Business Administration led in the number of graduates with 75. Thirty-nine graduated from the School of Forestry and 32 from the Department of English.

The processional "Festal March," by Cadman, played by the University Symphony orchestra under the direction of A. H. Weisberg, opened the exercises. The audience remained standing after singing "Montana, My Montana" while the Rev. Father Burns gave the invocation. The orchestra then played "Voices of Spring," by Johann Strauss.

Miller Talks

Justin Miller, '13, associate justice of the U. S. Court of Appeals, Washington, D. C., who received the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the exercises, delivered the address, "Young Men Going West."

Brogas' "Angel's Serenade," played by the orchestra, preceded the presentation of commissions. The presentation of candidates by the deans and conferring of degrees by Acting President C. W. Leaphart followed. Miller was then presented with the honorary degree of doctor of laws by Dr. J. Howard Toelle, professor of law.

"America," sung by the audience, the benediction by Rev. Harvey F. Baty and the recessional, "March Pontificale," by Bounod, played by the orchestra, concluded the exercises.

Seniors who received degrees were:

A LOOK BACK AND TO THE FUTURE

Graduation time is usually the signal for the time-honored and stereotyped advice and farewells to the senior class when we wish them luck as they enter the world to carve their niche.

But the seniors themselves know better than us what they have to face and what they must do to get ahead. Advice to the beginner is usually wasted, so we will waste little.

We will say one thing, though—positions will be more plentiful this year than for many years past. This is one ray of hope in the world's turmoil even if these positions are caused by the threat of war.

But while in a reflective mood we might glance over the past year at the university that the seniors are leaving. We have come face to face with changes during this period—some retrogressions and some improvements in spite of internal bickering and political maneuvering.

Perhaps the most notable of the improvements is that students have awakened to the fact that we have a university here which we want to make enduring and improve, and one of the ways to accomplish this is through advertising. Trips throughout the state by students and the "Know Your University" movement are indications of this thing.

During summer vacation each one of us could help the university by doing as much advertising as possible. With the expected 10 per cent decrease in enrollment for next year, our efforts are badly needed.

We also sincerely make the plea that the things which have caused the turmoil and bickering here at the university might be straightened out over the summer so the returning students next fall will hear none of the rumors now so current.

That is our hope for next year.

The O'Donnell blanket goes to 333 University—among my souvenirs.

Plums of the sudden assignments go to Derek Price and Earl Smith who will aid the dispensing arm of Uncle Sam, while attached to the quartermaster corps.

We don't feel in the flippant mood on the above subject. All the men who are leaving have, during their four years at the old alma mater, contributed much. We would rather give them a warm farewell and wish them godspeed.

The freshman, contrary to popular opinion, have got a lot on the old spud when it comes to jobs that have to be done. Haven't tossed a bouquet in over a week, but one is due to the South Hall boys who climbed up to the M to rid it of a rapidly growing green mat of weeds.

Grizzly Track Men to Enter Coast Meets

The feature 440-yard dash between Earl Fairbanks and Ole Ueland to determine which would accompany Gene Clawson, discus thrower, to the Big Ten-Pacific Coast All-Star meet June 17 at Los Angeles, was postponed because of cold weather last Saturday. The winner of the race, which will be run today, will leave with Clawson Thursday for Los Angeles.

After the Los Angeles meet, the two Grizzlies will travel to Palo Alto where, along with Fritz Kreiger, javelin thrower, and the loser of the Fairbanks-Ueland race, they will represent Montana in the National Intercollegiate track meet June 20-21.

In practice last week, Clawson threw the discus 158 feet 10 inches, two feet better than his present record. If he can repeat this toss in either of the two meets he will stand an excellent chance of placing.

Ueland ran a 1:20.3 660-yard dash in practice last Saturday, which betters the Montana record for that event.

FBI Seeks Applicants For Positions

The Federal Bureau of Investigation in its personnel expansion program is seeking the applications of individuals interested in positions with the bureau, J. E. Miller, dean of men, announced yesterday. Information and application blanks may be obtained from W. G. Banister, special agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Federal building, Butte, Miller added.

The qualifications for positions with the bureau have not been lowered, although they have been broadened in order that a larger FBI might be able to give fullest support to the federal defense program. Available positions include those of special agent, special accountant, special agent with a knowledge of foreign language, laboratory technicians, fingerprint classifiers, stenographer, typist and messenger.

The bureau also desires the applications of persons who, with proper educational and physical requirements, are interested in the position of document identification specialists, requiring knowledge of chemistry, physics, psychology, biology, mathematics, photography, commercial art, geology and other subjects.

Alum Speaks At Senior Banquet

C. W. Leaphart Presents
Baldwin to Graduating Class, Guests

Charles Baldwin, '20, lawyer and member of the State Board of Education, entertained approximately 500 university seniors, their parents and friends with humorous anecdotes and advisory comments at the annual commencement dinner Saturday night in the Gold room.

Baldwin, principal speaker at the farewell dinner for the senior class, was introduced by Acting President C. W. Leaphart, whose introductory remarks prefaced Baldwin's lively, running account of college days then and now and a survey of the progress that has been made in the university since the World war period.

Rev. Bennett Addresses Seniors

"When we ignore the church and neglect those interests which make for a better community, we are doing just exactly what the Nazis and Bolsheviks try to do through compulsion," Rev. Thomas W. Bennett said in his Baccalaureate sermon to the forty-fourth university graduating class last night in the Student Union auditorium.

Bennett, basing his sermon upon the Revelation of St. John, said that this is only a passing phase of life which will go in the course of time, and after it will be reasserted the spiritual or better part of man. His reason for this belief lies in the fact that among the dominant desires of man exists the longing for a better world and for the dawn of a new day.

Bennett Continues

The scientist, the materialist, the atheist, the Communist will all continue to do his part in building tomorrow's world, Mr. Bennett continued. "We must see to it that belief in God, belief in the principles of life as set forth by our Lord must be so woven into the fabric of the new age that it will entirely dominate the whole design and color scheme. We are confronted many times with conflicting loyalties; sometimes loyalty to our country seems to clash with loyalty to our God. It is not easy to choose. But loyalty to God and His church must be supreme for all believers. One who is loyal to God must inevitably be loyal, in the highest sense of the word, to his country and its best interests."

Bennett Concludes

Mr. Bennett concluded that a better world can only be built by better men and women and that it is the able purpose of religion to help man to high levels. When he has attained these levels, he must prove the value of faith in his own life and thus demonstrate to the world the vital and essential place of religion.

The Baccalaureate services included invocation and benediction by Rev. R. E. Johnson; scripture reading by Rev. E. R. Cameron; organ prelude, processional and recessional by Mrs. DeLoss Smith; several songs by the university choir, conducted by John Lester, and two hymns, sung by the audience.

Women's Honorary Attends Picnic

Pledge and active members of Spur, sophomore women's honorary society, attended a sunrise picnic in the Rattlesnake valley early this morning.

The picnickers assembled at the Student Union building at 5:30 o'clock and drove to a picnic spot above Effinger's bridge where they enjoyed a steak breakfast, swam and played games. They returned to the campus at 9 o'clock.

who has presided at commencement dinners for the past six years, introduced the speakers.

Don Foss, president of the Alumni association, urged the seniors to register with the association and added that this was the most convenient way for them to keep in contact with their former classmates.

Ray Walters, '05, was presented to the dinner audience as an outstanding former student and the father of Sam Walters, Mullan, Idaho, who graduated in business administration.

Dean Galles, Billings, president of the senior class, concluded the after-dinner speeches with a farewell to his classmates. Galles told the seniors that he believed June, 1941, was an opportune time for them to be finishing their university work as chances for employment were excellent.

Mirrielees Lauded

Before introducing Baldwin, Leaphart expressed the university's appreciation of the work done by Dr. Lucia B. Mirrielees and her staff in arranging the dinner details.

Following the dinner a Singing-on-the-Steps program honored the seniors, which was followed by Lantern Parade, sponsored by the Associated Women Students, honoring senior women.

Saturday's events were concluded with a senior mixer in the Gold room.
